

Woodstock Revisited

Music really did define the 60's and no single event did that more than Woodstock. Although it wasn't the first of its kind, Woodstock gathered the very best – and some of the weirdest – musical acts of the day on a farm in New York state...and so the Woodstock generation was born.

With a line-up that pays tribute to the very best of the era, join Bald Eagles, Full Tilt Janis and headliners - the mighty 1965 Masters Apprentices - it will all come together with host Graham Cornes (who probably does remember the 60's) and his awesome Graham Cornes Allstars. Dig it? Cool.

Deck yourself out in your coolest Woodstock-inspired threads to win a great prize, judged by some of Adelaide's hippest dudes ...and it's all for an excellent cause.

Proceeds from the day will benefit 4 of Adelaide's hardest working charities – COTA SA, The Hutt Street Centre, Kidney Health and Zoos SA – all benefitting our community in so many ways. Right on!

'Music is such a great way to bring people together. Hutt St Centre has a band of a group of fellows who jam each week. They really enjoy the company of each other and playing together. I love the idea of an Adelaide Rotary event that supports our charities using music to bring people together. Woodstock Revisited should be great fun.' Ian Cox CEO Hutt St Centre

Bring your Woodstock attitude and join the in crowd under the trees on the banks of the River Torrens & groove the day away. Chow down on some great food & wine and dance holes in your soles as you get back in touch with your hippy side. Far out, man...!
